Freshmen entering UCA have an average GPA of 3.3 and an average ACT of 23.1—higher than the national average (21) and the Arkansas average (20.3).
Campus and Community

On any given day, students can be found studying, socializing with friends, listening to music and attending events around Harding Centennial Plaza. Its signature fountain provides a picturesque backdrop for life at UCA. You’ll also be drawn to the Student Center, a favorite spot for movie nights, guest speakers and musical performances.

Great experiences await you off campus, too. Conway is home to cultural events and beloved local festivals. You’ll discover popular chain restaurants like Buffalo Wild Wings and Outback Steakhouse, as well as local favorites like Study’s, Bear Den Pizza and Michaelangelo’s Italian Restaurant. Mass retailers such as Target and Old Navy are always close by, while boutiques such as EM Jeans and PK’s attract devoted shoppers.

This student-friendly community, located 30 miles north of Little Rock, the capital city, has a population of approximately 62,000. With nearly 700,000 people living in the six-county metropolitan area, Conway strikes an ideal balance of big-city excitement and small-town appeal. And UCA is at the heart of it all.

Programs of Study

You belong at a university that lays the foundation for success. UCA attracts exceptional students, with average GPA and ACT scores of incoming freshmen exceeding state and national averages.

Students can immerse themselves in 80 undergraduate, 39 graduate and five doctoral degrees – many not offered anywhere else in the state. Not surprisingly, UCA graduates are highly sought after by national and international employers.

If you’re interested in an accelerated academic challenge, the UCA Honors College welcomes you home. This living/learning environment is rich with enhanced educational opportunities and rivals private institutions around the nation. As an Honors College student, you’ll focus on three aspects of student development: scholarship, leadership and citizenship. And through unique, challenging, thought-provoking and experiential learning opportunities, you’ll develop your capacity as a citizen-scholar.

Program Highlights
• Over 80 percent of Honors College graduates pursue post-baccalaureate training.
• Honors faculty hold leadership positions in national and regional collegiate honors organizations.
• UCA’s first Rhodes Scholar is an Honors College graduate; the program has produced a Truman Scholar, Fulbright Scholars, Rotary Ambassadorial Scholars and a Jack Kent Cooke Fellow.
• More than 100 faculty at UCA work with Honors College scholars on individual undergraduate research projects every year.
• The first-year retention rate for Honors College students was 96 percent in 2010-2011.
• In 2010-2011, 30 students received research grants, 33 received study abroad grants, and 20 received travel funds to present academic papers at regional or national conferences.

Our Honors College students have a 100% acceptance rate to law school.
Our five residence halls offer everything you need: convenient access to campus facilities, comfortable accommodations and a friendly staff. In 2010, UCA officials broke ground on Bear Hall, a 120,000-sq.-ft., $118-million residence hall that will be the first LEED (Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design) certified facility on campus. Bear Hall will also feature 12 20-person skyboxes on the fifth floor overlooking Estes Stadium. This state-of-the-art facility will open fall 2012.

Wherever you live, you’ll be surrounded by great food. We offer more than 10 meal plans to meet your needs. Christian Cafeteria (The Café) has it all, from a breakfast bar and deli bar to wraps, pizzas and “blue plate specials.” You’ll also find Einstein Bagels, Pizza Hut, Chick-fil-A, Quiznos and more in The Student Center, and Bear Express in Burdick Hall. Ready for a coffee break? Head to Starbucks in Torreyson Library or Java City in the College of Business.

On average, 3,600 students live on campus

Campus Living Offers Many Advantages

Studies show that freshmen who live on campus attain a higher grade point average than freshmen who reside off campus. At UCA, students have a number of places to call home. There are five residence halls, including the honors college, five residential colleges, six apartment complexes and three family housing options for married students who want to live near campus.

Most apartments offer two bedrooms and are designed to house four students. Each housing area has its own staff member responsible for supervising the related apartments or halls. On campus, there is greater access to the library, computer and study labs, and greater interaction with faculty. Plus, you never know when a spontaneous water balloon fight or impromptu concert might breaks out. To apply for all university housing options, visit uca.edu/housing.
Residential Colleges

UCA is one of the premier Residential College (RC) programs in the country. These are more than just places to stay. In our residential colleges, you are part of a close-knit, co-educational living and learning community that connects every aspect of your student experience. RC students take classes together and have significant, meaningful interactions with faculty members who lead the way in teaching and research. In fact, full-time UCA faculty members live in each of our residential colleges, offering guidance and serving as mentors.

There is no difference in cost between our residential halls and residential colleges, but space is limited. Interested in applying for an RC opening? Simply fill out the regular housing application and complete an additional essay at uca.edu/residential. You can also contact the Residential College Recruitment Team at residentialcolleges@uca.edu or (501) 450-5969. Application reviews start in October, so apply today.

Residential College students have a 12% higher graduation rate*

Learning and Living Together

As an RC student, you’ll find a place to belong. One residential college is exclusive to sophomores, while the other four colleges are open to first-year students. Each college focuses on different student strengths and interests. Hughes teaches leadership, while Short/Denney emphasizes living the arts. UCA’s newest communities are STEM and EDGE. STEM focuses on science, technology, engineering and math, and allows undergraduate research opportunities in several fields from molecular biology and robotics to aquatic ecology. EDGE emphasizes global engagement and promotes the ability to think and work across multiple disciplines and cultures. All five residential colleges are open to both men and women, and all have private wings and shared common spaces.

Belonging at UCA is about more than just going to class. College is an experience that’s all about being able to stand out while finding a way to fit in. It’s about finding other students with shared interests. Get involved in campus politics by running for office with the Student Government Association, or join The Bear Den to show off your school spirit.

You also have access to on-campus concerts, famous guest appearances and activities ranging from laser tag to amusement park rides. Bands, choirs, orchestras and various types of ensembles also have regular performances. The UCA Theatre offers four faculty-directed productions each year, one student-produced-and-directed production and a series of student-directed one-acts. No matter what your interest, we have a group to join, a place to go, a lesson to learn.

Check out our more than 200 recognized student organizations at uca.edu/rso.

Greek Life
Greek life at UCA has been going strong since 1915, and we offer 12 fraternities and nine sororities. It’s a great way to enhance your college experience and form lifelong friendships. Greek recruitment happens in the spring and has minimum requirements for participation. Greek Week takes place each spring and fall with events like Greek God and the All-Greek Step Show, where sororities and fraternities are paired in teams.

Athletics

Spirit is a big part of the UCA experience, and you’ll be proud to be a Bear! We participate in 17 NCAA Division I varsity sports, and our football team has won more national championships than any other college in Arkansas. The Sugar Bears basketball team made it to the championship game of the Southland Conference Tournament in its first year of eligibility, and for the third consecutive year, UCA volleyball won four of the six Southland Conference postseason awards. Our student athletes win in the classroom, too. The women’s volleyball team is a four-time Academic Achievement winner, as well as 2009 and 2010 conference champs. Recently, 86 student athletes were selected to the Southland Conference Honor Roll. Go Bears!

During football season, Bruce Street is transformed into Tailgating Central. Everyone is decked out in purple and gray, waiting for the UCA Bear Marching Band to lead the players onto the field. Students, faculty, staff, alumni and fans all gather to talk, laugh, sing the fight song and—most importantly—show their Bear Pride.

Do it like a big Bear!

UCA’s 400 student athletes also achieve in the classroom.

Events and Entertainment

When world-class dance troupes, plays and musicians come to campus, they perform at Donald W. Reynolds Performance Hall. Opened by the late Ray Charles, it continues to bring quality entertainment to Conway, including Spike Lee, David Cook, Gavin DeGraw and UCA’s own Kris Allen. The 2012 Season brings James Earl Jones, Erin Brockovich, James Carville, Broadway shows like “Stomp” and “The Wizard of Oz,” and the Moscow Festival Ballet presents “Romeo and Juliet.” UCA students receive free or discounted tickets to many of these performances.

Stay competitive. Stay active.

Intramural sports offer you the opportunity to participate in competitive sports to stay healthy while meeting new people. Join a team with your residential college, clubs, organizations, or a program of study and compete in 14 different sports, like basketball, badminton, bowling, cross country, dodgeball, flag football, flag football (four on four), horseshoes, kickball, soccer, softball, table tennis, tennis, co-rec volleyball and volleyball.

Work out in the Health, Physical Education and Recreation (HPER) Center, a 65,000-square-foot recreation center which is home to basketball courts, volleyball and badminton courts, a walking/jogging track, an exercise class studio, and a fitness center complete with a full slate of cardio and strength-training equipment.
