

Communication Sciences and Disorders

Post-Baccalaureate Students

Post-Bac students who did not major in communication sciences and disorders can nonetheless be admitted to the master's program in CSD, if they meet admission requirements for the Graduate College and CSD department; however, before taking master's courses, they will need to take the following undergraduate courses in CSD, as well as math statistics and any gen ed courses they have not had:

- 2306 Neuroscience for Communication
- 2322 Applied Phonetics
- 3301 Articulation and Phonological Disorders
- 3306 Anatomy/Physiology for Communication Sciences and Disorders
- 3311 Fundamentals of Speech and Hearing Science
- 3335 Birth to Five: Assessment and Intervention
- 3321 Language Acquisition and Literacy
- 4311 Audiology
- 4315 Aural Rehabilitation