

UNIVERSITY OF CENTRAL ARKANSAS

DEPARTMENT OF PSYCHOLOGY AND COUNSELING

Tenure-Track Assistant Professor Position Experimental Psychology

The Department of Psychology and Counseling at the University of Central Arkansas (UCA) invites applications for an Assistant Professor, tenure-track position, to begin August 15, 2017. A PhD in Psychology is required. Scholarship and expertise in experimental psychology, health psychology, or sports psychology will be given some preference; however, outstanding applicants with other specializations will be considered. In particular, we are eager to support applicants who may bring diversity to the program, the department, and the university.

Position Responsibilities

- Serve as a core member of the undergraduate faculty with some teaching in the graduate programs as well.
- Teach courses in line with program and department needs – e.g., graduate and undergraduate courses in such areas as statistics, research design, and those areas commensurate with the expertise of the applicant.
- Conduct an active program of research and scholarship with a clearly articulated agenda that supports the involvement of students as research assistants.
- Mentor students through academic advising and research.
- Serve the department, university, and community in ways that promote psychology.

The Department of Psychology and Counseling

The department houses an undergraduate program with over 500 majors and graduate programs in Counseling Psychology, School Psychology, and Mental Health Counseling. Our doctoral programs are APA-accredited and our undergraduate program is considered one of the most vibrant in the region. Department faculty include experimental and applied psychologists who are active researchers and committed teachers. The Department is located within the College of Health and Behavioral Sciences with opportunities for collaborations with other health professionals. More information about the department and the counseling psychology program can be found at: <http://www.uca.edu/psychology>.
