  - NURS 4220 to NURS 4320.

A motion to approve was made and seconded. Discussion followed. The Council voted to approve all action items.

4. The Council discussed 100% Engagement and transcript badging after having reviewed the information that was distributed in last week's meeting. The discussion included the types of activities to badge as well as the assessment of those activities. It was agreed that the departments and colleges will ensure that the students received engaged experiential learning opportunities and that transcript badging will be discussed at a future date.
5. P. Smith discussed the Governor's School application process. The application committee held their first meeting last Wednesday and have set aside Tuesday and Thursday afternoons to build proposals. They are currently working on the curriculum and budget pieces of the application.
6. Member Reports
  - J. Glenn reminded the Council that there are required items that must be submitted to the state library. College Annual Reports are included in the list of required items. He will resend the original email from Jimmy Bryant to the Council after today's meeting.
The American Council on Education (ACE) is hosting a webinar next Wednesday at 12:00. The Council is welcome to join those participating in the webinar in Wingo 214.

- K. Griffin reported that the College of Business is heavily involved in recruiting new faculty members.
- P. Mehl reminded the Council that the President's lunch recognizing Washington Center students is today at 12:00.
- V. Groves-Scott stated that the second round of rules for the ADE Teacher Preparation have been published. The original wording on teacher residency has been removed except in one place. The new rules make it clear that district run teacher preparation programs would need to meet the same standards as higher education teacher education programs.
- P. Smith reported that the Honors College is in the middle of application season and is receiving 40 applications per day.
- K. Boniecki stated that, as a result of the transition in student evaluation systems from Smart Evals to eXplorance Blue, some past evaluations are not currently available. Although faculty can access their evaluations from the last term in the new system, eXplorance is currently building full reports. The Office of Assessment is also waiting to get older reports from Smart Evals and will distribute to faculty as soon as they are available. Department Chairs should recognize that the student evaluation question set has changed with the new system. They should notify the department committees that there will be two sets of questions over the next few years.

The Undergraduate Council currently has no action items for their February meeting. If the deans have any items that need to be reviewed by the Undergraduate Council, please submit those items by the end of next week.

- A. Barlow stated that Sponsored Programs' SURF program will host an informational meeting for faculty on Tuesday, March 13, at X-period. Please encourage faculty attendance.
- T. Wright reported that the College of Fine Arts and Communication is conducting a search for a Film Theorist and have had spectacular candidates. The Baum Gallery will open a printmaking exhibition entitled "Pathways" on Thursday that was curated by Art Professor Jessie Hornbrook. Music Professor Jackie Lamar will be performing her final faculty recital on Sunday at 3:00 in Snow Fine Arts. She will be retiring at the end of this semester. The classical quartet, Genghis Barbie, will be performing Monday at 7:30. Science Wednesday is tonight at 6:00 at King's in Conway. The topic will be Travel in Space and Dean Wright will participate in the discussion panel.

7. Provost's Announcements

- The next COD meeting will be Wednesday, January 31, at 9:00 a.m.
- Patrick Carmack of the Mathematics department passed away last night. An announcement will go out to campus soon.
- Academic Affairs will announce the passing of any UCA employees but asks that the departments prepare the email that will go out to campus.

- Reassigned Time requests are due to the Provost's office on February 7.
- The Opening Session schedule will have some changes this year. A formal convocation will be held on Wednesday morning before the faculty meetings with colleges and departments. Please encourage faculty attendance.
- Divisions will be able to make one-time budget requests in early February. There will be a short deadline. Please limit each college's requests to no more than two items.
- The Deans will receive their budget requests for FY19 early next week. Changes to these budgets will be base requests and will be a reallocation of unused funds within a college or department to other areas of need within that college or department.
- The International Engagement director search committee is being assembled. Jonathan Glenn has agreed to chair the search committee which will be made up of one International Engagement representative and several members of the Study Abroad committee.
- The Provost Search Committee has not yet seen the applications but will receive and discuss them soon.
- Bear Facts Day is this Saturday.

The meeting adjourned at 11:10 a.m.
