THANKSGIVING.

For height of sky and breadth of sight,
For Freedom's rule and nation's might,
For distant homes and fireside's light,
Our hearts give thanks.

First to these shores the Pilgrim band
Brought seeds of truth and freedom grand
Which, sown and trained by Wisdom's hand,
Flowed into Liberty.

Here Learning holds her queenly sway,
Contentment sings her simple lay;
Here are no sounds of battle's fray,
But only those of Peace.

For power to think and strength to do,
For friends, to cheer the journey through,
For love to cast its rainbow hue,
Our hearts give thanks.
