

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Arkansas State Normal School held in Conway September 18th, 1918, the following were present: Bond, Cliver, Lenon, Fraenthal and McDaniel.

Mr. Torreyson was authorized to communicate with the school in the state now in the Students Training Schools and ascertain if there was a real demand that the Normal should apply for the privilege of becoming a training school also and was to be governed accordingly. In case it was decided to apply for the training school Messrs Bond and McDaniel were instructed to confer with the governor as to issuing a deficiency proclamation to enable same to be installed.

Mr. Torreyson was also instructed to look into the placing of the down spouts on the new building so as to run the water entirely away from the building.

Bids for the electric fixtures for the Administration Building were ordered advertised for.

The salary of the janitor was raised from $60 to $70 per month.

President Torreyson was instructed to have the porches on the dormitory painted and also to look into repairs of the same building.

Architect Almand was authorized to notify contractor Donaghey of several defects in the new building and to instruct the contractor that same must be remedied at once as they were wholly unsatisfactory.

There being no further business the board adjourned.
