

Hybrid Delivery (Asynchronous)

In-Class/Online Groups

One group of students attends class in person; the other group(s) of students watch the recorded class at their convenience. The in-class and at-home groups can rotate so that all students have some face-to-face and some remote instruction. Class can be recorded through web-conferencing tools (e.g., Collaborate Ultra, Zoom, etc.).

PROS:

- Both groups receive in-person instruction
- Groups can take turns to each receive in-person assistance
- Less up-front class preparation

CONS:

- In-class cannot exceed occupancy limit
- Online group does not get real-time interaction

What Instructor Sees

Student Group	Session 1	Session 2	Session 3
Group A
Group B
Group C
Group D (Online Only Students)

