PUBLIC RELATIONS

University of Central Arkansas School of Communication

WHAT ARE WE ABOUT?

- UCA's public relations program is a collaborative, service learning-focused curriculum that equips students with both practical skills to get jobs as professional communicators, and the strategic theory necessary to turn those into thriving careers helping people and organizations find their voice.

WHAT DO WE DO?

- Real work for real clients: From the very first class to your senior capstone, our coursework has real-world impact for nonprofits on campus, in our local community and around the world.
- Sharpen your skills: With practical classes in social media management, writing, photography, graphic design, professionalism and other PR techniques.
- Expand your network: Meet leading professionals through our speaker series, Public Relations Student Society of America chapter, agency tours in Little Rock and a portfolio review with a practicing PR pro before you hit the job market.
- Broaden your horizons: With cutting-edge courses on current events, new technologies and multiculturalism in PR. Plus, some of the best courses from our other School of Communication degree programs.

WHERE DO WE GO?

- Our students are leaders on campus – running student government, student activities, Greek organizations, campus ministries and more.

Our students land internships and fellowships that get them in the door here in Arkansas, or take them around the country. You'll find UCA PR grads working from New York to California, and plenty of places in between.
- Graduates advocate on behalf of businesses, nonprofit organizations, government agencies and public figures in entertainment, politics and sports.

WHAT ELSE?

- Learn more at uca.edu/go/pr or contact communication@uca.edu to arrange a visit.
