

Interested in learning to play fiddle? Tim Trawick, a third generation old time fiddle player has helped many students learn old time, bluegrass, cajun, celtic, western swing, and contest style fiddle. Trained in classical violin, Trawick prides himself in promoting classical posture and technique in order to get a great sound and has helped violin students prepare for region orchestra auditions. A prize winning guitar accompanist, Tim also teaches swing style guitar using jazz chords and music theory. An experienced performer, Trawick has won numerous fiddle contests and has coached students who've gone on to become state fiddle champions. A talented performer and entertainer, Tim has helped prepare students to compete at events such as Scholarship Pageants, National FFA Talent Competition, Arkansas State Fair, the Youth in Bluegrass competition at Silver Dollar City, and the National Beta Club talent competition. Tim is also available to teach mandolin, which was his first instrument.
