

Writing Assignment Scoring Rubric

| | 0 to 16 points | 17 to 19 points | 20 to 22 points | 23 to 25 points |
|-------------------------------|--|--|---|--|
| Content and Quotations | There are significant problems regarding the content of the paper. The content of most or all of the sections of the paper does not closely follow the writing assignment instructions. The paper includes three or more unattributed quotations or quotations consisting of one or more full sentences. Most of the sections of the paper are below the bottom of the minimum page ranges. | There are substantial problems regarding the content of the paper. The content of some of the sections of the paper does not closely follow the writing assignment instructions. The paper includes two or more unattributed quotations or quotations consisting of one or more full sentences. Most of the sections of the paper are near the bottom of the minimum page ranges. | There are only minor problems regarding the content of the paper. The content of most of the sections of the paper closely follows the writing assignment instructions. The paper includes one or more unattributed quotations or quotations consisting of one or more full sentences. Most of the sections of the paper are near the top of the minimum page ranges. | There are no significant problems regarding the content of the paper. The content of each of the sections of the paper closely follows the writing assignment instructions. The paper does not include any unattributed quotations or quotations consisting of one or more full sentences. All of the sections of the paper are above the top of the minimum page ranges. |
| Format and Style | There are significant problems with the format of the paper. The paper does not follow the guidelines regarding format, including the cover page, section headings, margins, line-spacing, headers, font style, and font size. The paper is not written in the Academic Style . The paper includes several informal writing practices such as contractions. | There are substantial problems regarding the format of the paper. The paper does not follow some of the guidelines regarding format, including the cover page, section headings, margins, line-spacing, headers, font style, and font size. The paper is mostly not written in the Academic Style . The paper includes some informal writing practices such as contractions. | There are only minor problems regarding the format of the paper. The paper follows most of the guidelines regarding format, including the cover page, section headings, margins, line-spacing, headers, font style, and font size. The paper is mostly written in the Academic Style . The paper largely does not include informal writing practices such as contractions. | There are no significant problems regarding the format of the paper. The paper follows all of the guidelines regarding format, including the cover page, section headings, margins, line-spacing, headers, font style, and font size. The paper is entirely written in the Academic Style . The paper does not include any informal writing practices such as contractions. |
| Sources and Citations | There are significant problems with sources and citations. The paper does not properly cite most of the sources of information and does not cite a sufficient number of sources. The paper uses non-academic or non-professional sources of information, including sources without identifiable authors or organizations. The paper cites information from dictionaries, encyclopedias, or other online reference sources. Most of the sources cited using parenthetical citations are not properly listed on the References page. | There are substantial problems with sources and citations. The paper does not properly cite sources of information or does not cite a sufficient number of sources. The paper uses some non-academic or non-professional sources of information, including sources without identifiable authors or organizations. The paper cites information from dictionaries, encyclopedias, or other online reference sources. Some of the sources cited using parenthetical citations are not properly listed on the References page. | There are only minor problems with sources and citations. The paper properly cites most of the sources of information. The paper cites a sufficient number of sources. The paper mostly uses academic and professional sources of information. The paper does not cite information from dictionaries, encyclopedias, or other online reference sources. Most of the sources cited using parenthetical citations are properly listed on the References page. | There are no significant problems with sources and citations. The paper properly cites sources of information and cites a sufficient number of sources. The paper uses academic and professional sources of information. The paper does not cite information from dictionaries, encyclopedias, or other online reference sources. All of the sources cited using parenthetical citations are properly listed on the References page. |
| Writing and Grammar | There are significant writing problems. The paper is poorly written, including grammatical, punctuation, spelling, and other writing errors throughout the paper. The writing in the paper is often unclear or difficult to understand. | There are substantial writing problems. Some of the paper is poorly written, including grammatical, punctuation, spelling, and other writing errors throughout the paper. The writing in the paper is sometimes unclear or difficult to understand. | There are only minor writing problems. The paper is mostly well-written, although there are a few grammatical, punctuation, spelling, and other writing errors. The writing in the paper is mostly clear and understandable. | There are no significant writing problems. The paper is well-written with no significant grammatical, punctuation, spelling, or other writing errors. The writing in the paper is entirely clear and understandable. |