

Sociology, Criminology, and Anthropology Department Newsletter

{ November 13th, 2025 }

A NOTE FROM THE EDITOR:

Here we are– another month closer to the end of the year, coordinating family and food for holidays, & into the home stretch of the semester ...which means it's registration season! We've got new special topics courses debuting in spring:

Human Evolution (ANTH 4395)- Dr. Bowne

Artificial Intelligence & Society (SOC 3395)- Dr. Patrick Casey

Criminal Evidence (CRIM 4395)- Mr. Marty Montgomery

Jail, Bail, & Community Corrections (CRIM 4395)- Mr. Marty Montgomery

CONFERENCE SEASON

Last month, SCA hosted the Arkansas Association of Sociology, Anthropology, and Criminology (AASAC) conference in the Ronnie Williams Student Center. The conference featured presentations and panels from members of our own faculty, as well as guests from universities across the state. A wide variety of topics were covered including: AI, political extremism, immigration, homelessness, family dynamics, entrepreneurship, QAnon messaging, and Taiko drumming in Japanese culture -with a thunderous demonstration!

SPECIAL GUEST SPEAKER

Right before we left for fall break, we had a very special guest- Prosecuting Attorney Carol Crews came to speak with Mr. Montgomery's Intro to Criminal Law class and gave us quite the insight into her line of work. She currently serves as the prosecuting attorney for the 20th Judicial District, which is comprised of Faulkner, Van Buren, and Searcy counties; and is the first woman to hold this position in this district.
