

The Washington Center (TWC) – UCA Coursework Form

The Academic Internship Program is divided into three components (internship, evening course, and career preparation). All participants must be involved in all three components. To participate in the program, students must enroll in twelve UCA credit hours (fall/spring) or nine UCA credit hours (summer) during the term of the program. The UCA courses are usually internship, independent study, or other similar courses that are offered by departments at UCA. Listed below are the three components of the program and spaces for the UCA courses/instructors for each component.
